Department of English

The Department of English organized a literary event titled “Words That Live” on April 23, 2025, commemorating Shakespeare’s birth anniversary, English Language Day, and the inauguration of the Literary Club.

The event was graced by Dr. Shireen Nedungadi, former Principal

She shared her thoughts on language as identity, the importance of mother tongue, the need to listen, and the power of pet names as emotional markers were heartfelt and reflective. She moved us by highlighting that “You, I love” carries humility, while “I love you” may carry ego—inviting us to think deeply about how we use language in love, in life, and in learning. With over four decades of teaching experience in this very college, she reminded us that relevance in teaching must be earned every day, and that language remains sustainable only when we make it human, empathetic, and alive.

The principal, Dr. Ramesh, and Vice Principal, Prof. Alakananda K.P were also present and extended their support and encouragement.

The program featured engaging literary events including:

1. Best Outfit & Dialogue
2. Just A Minute (JAM)
3. Poetry Recitation
4. Debate

The Book or Author That Inspired Me

Students participated enthusiastically, and prizes and certificates were distributed to winners. The event was a grand success and marked a promising beginning for the newly inaugurated Literary Club.

Faculty Participation in the SEP Workshop

The Department of English, The National College (Autonomous), Basavanagudi, attended a workshop on the III Semester English SEP Textbooks organized by the IQAC and the Department of English, MES College of Arts, Commerce and Science, Malleswaram, on 30th July 2025 at the MES Kishore Kendra Auditorium.

The workshop provided useful academic discussions on the newly introduced English SEP textbooks for III Semester and their effective implementation. Faculty members of the Department of English, National College, Basavanagudi, actively participated and found the sessions enriching.
